

What a couple of years its' been! COVID came, left and came back. The carriers found opportunity to raise prices and act with complete service impunity. For the most part service refunds were eliminated, carrier failures soared, customer service was met with a bit of compassion; this compassion has since evaporated. Carriers had us believing they were operating under some umbrella of assault. Still have not seen a UPS or FedEx driver out of breath or miss their "normal" delivery times in my area. UPS for really the first time announced Q3 2021 as making more profit while delivering less packages. This can only happen by raising prices, while optimizing routes combined with service impunity. Deliver the air with the ground; simple! It is a formula to kill for; shareholders would be thrilled; unfortunately, the shareholders of the many shippers out there will not be as happy. Starting January 2022 and beyond will be the time to push back hard on carriers' tyrannical rate increases and service declines.

PMAC Rate Analysis Notes:

1. Carriers are continuing to discount heavier packages more because essentially the costs are the same; only incrementally higher at best.
2. Longer air zones are raised higher than shorter zones. Less regional and ground competition.
3. Residential deliveries are increasing due to less packages going to stores and directly to consumers.
4. Average package weights are decreasing also for this reason. We are seeing UPS expanding services such as Access Point and My Choice in an attempt to reduce the amount of possible residential attempts on deliveries.
5. Continual overlap in GDS and air services allow the carriers to keep the air services within GDS zones higher.
6. DIM factors need to be offset by standardizing box sizes. PMAC can help.

DIMENSIONAL FACTORS continue to have a tremendous impact on your shipment weight valuations.

Example: 2021 weighting for 35 X 13 x 25 package @166(Factor) = 68.52 lbs.

2022 weighting for 35 x 13 x 25 package @139(Factor) = 81.83 lbs. NET weight increase of 19.42%!

DIM Weight Rules – “The Weight of Air”

UPS and FedEx in January of 2015 and thereafter have been redefining the laws of physics and declaring that “air has weight”. It is surely a justifiable assertion when you are in the business of shipping toilet paper and paper towels; these items are large and bulky and take up more room in the line haul; this extra room could have been used for smaller and larger revenue generating parcels. However, if you are not in the business of shipping these items, the slap on the wrist may not be justified on your wrist. Here’s how it will work. See below:

Let’s say this box is:

12 X 10 x 8, this would equal 960 cubic inches (CI). Cubic inches = length times width times height.

Today for any ground packages shipped with UPS and FedEx that are less than 5184 CI will not be subject to dimensional weight pricing.

What is dimensional weight pricing?

Dimensional weight pricing is being billed for the higher of the dimensional weight of the package or the actual weight of the package. Dimensional weight is determined by calculating the cubic inches and then dividing by a “dimensional factor” or denominator. The current UPS and FedEx standard published DIM divisor (factor) is 139 on domestic packages.

So, back to our sample box (960 CI); divide the cubic inches by the standard published DIM divisor (139) and get 6.90 lbs. dim weight. This will get rounded up to 7 pounds as dimensional weight. Previous to the 2015 DIM Rules, this package would have gone out at the actual weight of the package. Since 2015, it will now be billed at the greater weight of the DIM weight or the actual weight.

FedEx/UPS Dimensional Rules Continue to Have a Significant Impact

Continued Additional Handling and Large Package Surcharge Criteria have become extremely complicated. Please call PMAC to see how it affects you.

UPS Largest Rate Increases

Next Day Air

Letter Express in some cases over 7.1%. Highest overall increases are all zones 2 thru 8 for weights up to 94 lbs., at least 6.1%. The average increases per zone are between 6.06% and 6.68%.

Next Day Air Saver

Highest overall increases are in zones 2 and 4 for all weights. The average increases are between 7.25% and 6.00% respectively

2nd Day Air

Between 1 and 50 pounds the average rate increases is approximately 4.58% between zones 5 and 8.

Ground

Rate increases are as random as they get; designed to confuse shippers increasing the difficulty of analyzing the largest areas of increase. Deciphering problem areas require the guidance of a consultant. The carrier round networks are so efficient that shippers are being exploited. The largest increases are across all zones, mainly where most packages ship, 1-10 lbs. The overall average rate increase is 6.97%.

Address Correction Increases

Address correction fees can be crippling when it comes to freight management and cost control. Final Thoughts

The parcel shipping industry B2B, B2C, C2B (and any other combinations that may arise) is in its infancy. The American insatiable appetite is here to stay. Amazon will emerge on the “carrier” landscape like a bear and thankfully add a viable competitor to UPS and FedEx. The addition of Amazon as a carrier will finally align carrier pricing to what the market can and should bear. The aggressive stances by UPS and FedEx of late have been a key indication future pricing competition. We have seen more and more termination language in agreements, longer- term deals, and service waivers.

The 2022 rate increases based on blended averages mislead shippers; most shippers will experience overall invoice increases well above the publicized 5.9% average. Accessorial charge increases, cell-by-cell rate increases and fuel will be the biggest drivers.

Evaluation of these drivers is essential for the growth and budgeting of your business. PMAC will be delighted to help and give free high-level assessments on all these questions.
